

AP Humanities 10

Honours English 10 & AP World History

The AP Humanities 10 course is designed to teach the students AP World History and Honours English 10 with an emphasis on the overlapping and cross-curricular content and themes in World history and literature. We believe the best way to teach World History and World literature (with a focus on the study of rhetoric) is in combination and connexion with each other because World literature is can act as narrative of regions' history, but often sheds important light onto its cultural and social background. The course allows for several cross-curricular and joint projects (allowing students to earn concurrent grades in both English and History) throughout the school year stimulating students to demonstrate and enforcing their use of multiple intelligences and the connexion between disciplines. This course would appeal to the tenth grade honours student with a passion for both English and World History and enjoys the challenges of the AP curriculum.
